

“Building a Dynamic & High Performance Team”

Talent Management Inner Circle Event

12th February 2015 (Thursday),
2.00 pm – 5.30 pm

While we may all recognize the importance of building teams; but how often do we dedicate time away from work to gather and bond our team members? Beyond the fun and laughter shared during team building events and activities, effective leaders and managers understand the importance of leveraging on these positive shared experiences to enhance the team’s productivity and performance.

Team development is essentially a science of engineering opportunities for teams to realign and strive in the direction of their strategic vision; to inspire, motivate and gain members’ commitment to contribute to the larger organizational goals; to create open and trusting environments for better synergy; as well as, to review practices and celebrate the teams’ successes.

More than just a fun-fair event, this upcoming TMIC event will explore the concept and impact of dynamic approaches to develop teams and enhance their performance.

1. Discover new trends in building and developing team synergy and dynamics
2. Experience practical and effective approaches towards team development
3. Learn strategies and insights from other business leaders
4. Network with other HR and L&D practitioners

Agenda/ Topics

- Team Performance and Efficacy
  - Team Building vs Team Development – What’s the Difference?
  - Approaches in Team Development
  - Contemporary Challenges
  - The Science of Engineering Team Learning
- Experience a Dynamic Bite-sized Team Development Intervention and be Inspired by it
- Networking Session

Venue

To be advised

RSVP

This event is strictly by invitation only. Limited seats available.

Please RSVP by 5th February 2015 to Jonathan @ 6248 3288 or email jonathan.tan@ilsperformance.com